

What will my $60 subscription include?

- Semi-annual installments of new and updated recommendations from the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force.
- Summaries of evidence for each recommendation.
- A cumulative index with each installment.
- Three-ring binders to collect and store the installments.
- USPSTF background, history, and methods chapters.

This 2-volume publication allows you to:

- Reference the most current recommendations of the USPSTF.
- Easily add USPSTF recommendations to the binders as they become available.

* The U.S. Preventive Services Task Force, sponsored by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality, is an independent panel of private-sector experts in prevention and primary care. It conducts rigorous, impartial assessments of scientific evidence for a broad range of clinical preventive services.

The current USPSTF expects to continue to release new and updated recommendations on screening, chemoprevention, and counseling through 2004. This subscription entitles you to all of the recommendations of the current Task Force.

1st Installment includes recommendations on:

- Lipid screening
- Aspirin to prevent cardiovascular events
- Chlamydia screening
- Newborn hearing screening
- Skin cancer screening
- Screening for bacterial vaginosis in pregnancy

2nd Installment (available early 2003) includes recommendations on:

- Depression screening
- Breast cancer screening
- Breast cancer chemoprevention
- Colorectal cancer screening
- Screening for osteoporosis
- Hormone replacement therapy
- Physical activity counseling
- Behavioral counseling
